Excellent two page handwritten folding letter, with address The Cedars, Breadsall, Derby and dated 4th October 1888, from Spofforth to Mr T.R. Deny, Vice President of the Belper Meadows Cricket Club (Derbyshire) in response to an offer to play cricket for the club 'With reference to your letter inviting me to play with the above club in the season 1889. While feeling the honour you have done in asking me, I regret very much that at present I cannot decide as I believe there is some chance of my playing for a county next season. Apologising for not answering your letter before I am again thanking you, I am yours truly Frederick Spofforth'. Light folds otherwise in very good condition. A very rare letter from an Australian legend £800/1200

Spofforth, the 'Demon Bowler' was arguably the Australian cricket team's finest pace bowler of the nineteenth century and was the first bowler to take 50 Test wickets and the first to take a test hat-trick in 1879. He played in Test Matches for Australia between 1877 and 1887 taking ninety four wickets at an average of 18.41. In 1888 at the end of his first class career he settled in England and married an Englishwoman and played for Derbyshire (not first class) from 1889 to 1891. Derbyshire CCC tried unsuccessfully to persuade the County Cricket Council to allow him to play for Derbyshire without waiting for the usual two years' residential qualification. However, Yorkshire were willing to waive the point so that Spofforth could play against them in two matches in the 1889 season. In one of these games he took fifteen Yorkshire wickets for 81 runs. With the residential qualification met in the following year, Spofforth was able not only to play for Derbyshire but to captain the side in the 1890 season. In England, he went into business as a tea-merchant and became the managing director of the Star Tea Company which belonged to his wife's father and was very successful. He revisited Australia on more than one occasion and retained his interest in the game to the end.

Spofforth died on the eve of the 1926 Ashes series from chronic colitis at the age of 72. He left a fortune of £164,000

A delightful short piece about Arthur Wellard, a Somerset legend. Wellard, in his seventies played for Pinter's wandering team, The Gaieties.

'In answer to your question my 'Arthur Wellard' is very scarce. Only about six on my shelves'. Quote from Pinter in a letter previously sold by Knights

Harold Pinter CBE was a Nobel Prize winning English playwright, screen-writer, director and actor. One of the most influential modern British dramatists, his writing career spanned more than 50 years. He was a cricket enthusiast, taking his bat with him when evacuated during the Blitz. In 1971 he told Mel Gussow, 'one of my main obsessions in life is the game of cricket. I play and watch and read about it all the time'. He was a leading player and chairman of the Gaieties Cricket Club from 1972 to his death. He died in 2008 at the age of 78 years

Arthur Wellard (1902-1960) was a "Tour de Force of the Cricket world" in England. He played for Somerset, England and the Gaieties. He spent his final playing years keeping an avuncular eye on a wandering team of "keen but erratic Home Counties amateurs" called the Gaieties CC, founded 1937. He was its coach, critic, confessor and counsellor, and his advice was based on decades of survival in the upper echelons of first class cricket. He died on the 31st December 1980 at the age of 78 years.

- When the First World War ended in November 1918, thousands of Australian servicemen were in Europe as members of the First Australian Imperial Force (AIF) and many remained until the spring of 1919. In England, a new first-class cricket season was planned, the first since 1914, and an idea that came to fruition was the formation of an Australian touring side made up of servicemen. The Australian Imperial Force Touring XI was formed, initially under the captaincy of pre-war Test player Charlie Kelleway. Kelleway departed after only six matches following a dispute about the fixtures list. A players' meeting elected future Test player Herbie Collins as team captain for the remainder of the tour, despite the fact that Collins' military rank was lance corporal and there were seven officers in the party. The bulk of the team remained intact for nearly nine months from May 1919, playing thirty three matches in Great Britain, ten in South Africa on their way home and then another three in Australia itself before disbanding in February 1920, with only four defeats, all of these in England. The players lived on their army pay and all profits from gate money went to an AIF Sports Control Board*

- England won the 1926 Ashes series against Australia, winning the last Test of the series after the first four matches were drawn. Because the series was at stake, the match was to be 'timeless' (played to a finish). Australia had a narrow first innings lead of 22. Hobbs and Sutcliffe took the score to 49-0 at the end of the second day, a lead of 27. Heavy rain fell overnight, and next day the pitch soon developed into a traditional sticky wicket. England seemed certain to be bowled out cheaply and to lose the match. In spite of the very difficult batting conditions, however, Hobbs and Sutcliffe took their partnership to 172 before Hobbs was out for exactly 100. Sutcliffe went on to make 161 and in the end England won the game comfortably*

- 560 'E.J. Sanders' Team in the United States and Canada 1885'. A beautifully compiled large photograph album/scrapbook covering this early tour to North America and Canada, the party left Liverpool aboard the Royal Mail Steamer Adriatic on the 20th August and left New York on the 1st October 1885, containing sixty seven pages of contemporary photographs, newspaper articles, menus and personalised invitation cards, passenger lists, postcards, scorecards etc. The album appears to have been compiled by William Eyton Roller as it contains many personalised items to him or Charles Edward Horner, who both played for Surrey and were both members of the touring party. The album contains sixty nine original photos taken on the tour. The first is a fine large sepia image of the touring team, including the manager E.J. Sanders, many wearing cricket blazers and caps. There are individual, carte de visite size or larger, photographs of all members of the team, apart from Roller, with personal tour statistics appended below each photograph, 'The Pet of the Eleven, 'Nellie' also features. In addition there are eleven stunning photographs of the team in action in matches including two excellent large photographs of the first match v Staten Island (September 1st & 2nd), three large photographs of the first match v The Gentlemen of Philadelphia (September 17th -19th) and six large photographs of the return match v The Gentlemen of Philadelphia (September 24th - 26th). There are also photos of the places visited by the team including spectacular photographs of Niagara Falls, Detroit, New York, Toronto and Philadelphia. The newspaper articles include 'The English Gentlemen in America by One of Them' in full (C.E. Horner), published in 'Cricket: a Weekly Record of the Game'. The ornate passenger list (both outward and homeward, with names of all the Eleven), ornate menus including lunch & Dinner menus (4th October 1885), ship postcard and entertainment (one, many of the Eleven are named who sang songs and recitations) on the voyage on the steamship Adriatic are included. Menus of functions given to the team by the Montreal Cricket Club, the Union League Club of Philadelphia, and the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club (2) appear as well as local hotel fare cards in Detroit and Philadelphia. American scorecards of the 'First Game' and of the 'Second Match' between the Gentlemen of Philadelphia and the Gentlemen of England and free passes to host clubs are also laid down and personalised to a player. The 'First Game' saw an unexpected defeat for the tourists and a song printed on 'Young Sam and Old John' (written by Peter Peppercorn, similar in style to an Albert Craig poem) is also displayed. To the back of the book is loosely inserted, what appears to be, a printed map of trench positions in the Bellenglise area of France on the Western Front, the map dated 24th September 1917. The map is labelled 'Corps Topo Section'. Reason for its inclusion unknown. The team consisted of A.J. Thornton (Sussex & Kent 1880-1891), H.O. Whitby (Oxford University 1884-1887), W.E. Roller (Surrey 1881-1890), J.A. Turner (Cambridge University 1883-1886), H.Brueen (Ireland), Reverend R.T. Thornton (Kent 1881-1888), C.E. Horner (Oxford University & Surrey 1877-1886), A.R. Cobb (Oxford University 1884-1886. He died shortly after returning from the tour), A.E. Newton (Oxford University & Somerset 1885-1888), Reverend T.R. Hine-Haycock (Oxford University & Kent 1882-1886), W.E.T. Bolitho (Oxford University 1883 & 1885).

The English XI led by Edward James Sanders left from Boston for their homeland on October 5th, 1885 feeling good about their many victories in the preceding month across USA. But the series was not all one sided, in fact, the series marked yet another high-watermark for American cricket, the Gentlemen of Philadelphia XI defeated the English XI by a wide margin in the first of two games they played. There were eight matches played in total, six victories, one draw and one defeat. W.E. Roller injured his arm during the third match of the tour and could not bowl in either of the Philadelphia games. The attendances in the Philadelphia matches was high, with 8000 to 9000 present on some days and the tourists were surprised to see that nearly half the crowd were women. Reverend R.T. Thornton captained the side and the leading batsman was W.E. Roller, whilst Bruen and Horner took most wickets

A pair of cricket bats used by the opening batsman on the tour of England in 1926. The bat used by Collins (Captain of Australia in 1926) is a 'Clapshaw and Cleave Ltd. Apex' cricket bat which has ink signature of ownership to shoulder of bat. The back of the bat inscribed 'To Robert with best wishes from H.L. Collins, Captain Australian XI 1926 and signed below by sixteen members of the Australian touring party. Signatures are Collins, Taylor, Richardson, Grimmett, Oldfield, Gregory, Macartney, Woodfull, Ellis, Mailey, Hendrey, Ponsford, Bardsley, Everett, Andrews and Ryder. The bat was discovered in a house clearance in Andoversford in the Cotswold's. The bat used by Bardsley is a 'Duke & Son, Penshurst 'Warren Bardsley autograph' cricket bat which has ink signature of ownership to shoulder of bat. The bat rubber perished, some wear and darkening to the bat otherwise in good condition. This bat has an interesting history and provenance. It was presented by Bardsley to a fifteen year old page/bell boy, Cornelious King, at the Hotel Cecil in 1926. The bat was kept by King and later prior to his death in 1954 was passed to a relation Terry Enwright who actually played with it a few times, writing his name on the back across from Bardsley's. It was also lent to Surrey and Sussex player Arnold Long for a short time. A photocopy of a short article and photograph of Cornelious King holding the bat, taken from the Daily Sketch 1926 accompanies the bat plus a typed sheet detailing the history of the bat from the vendor. The openers bats in the Lord's Test reunited after eighty nine years apart -cricket £2500/3500

In their second innings Australia made 194—5 with Collins making 24, Bardsley didn't bat and the match ended in a tame draw.. Harold Larwood made his Test debut in this match.*
