Content relates to The Cricketer magazine, of which Langford was assistant editor to Plum Warner at the time. Langford

- mentions the recruitment of C.B. Fry, E.R. Wilson, A.E.R. Gilligan and H.S. Altham as contributors for the forthcoming Spring edition. He mentions errors relating to 'the Bedser misprint', the cutting of club results in favour of club news etc. Adhesive mark to top edge of one letter, light foxing and folds, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- 50 'The Cricket Year Book'. Handwritten plain postcard dated 27th March 1899 from The Manager of the 'Cricket Office' at Merritt & Hatcher, Upper Thames Street, London. Writing to an unknown correspondent, he states 'The Cricket Year Book first appeared in 1897. The 2 issues can be obtained for 1/2'. G £30/50
- Merritt & Hatcher took over publication of 'Cricket A Weekly Record' from W.R. Wright in 1895 after Wright fell out with the journal's founder and editor, C.W. Alcock*
- 51 Thomas Padwick (1844-1898). Three page handwritten letter dated 18th February 1892 from Thomas Padwick writing from his home in Redhill to Charles Pratt Green, two prolific and early cricket collectors. Padwick refers to asking '[R.S.] Holmes what he wants for his collection', also that he is 'very pleased Andrew Lang has given [Richard] Daft a "leg up", as you say "generous indeed"'. (Lang wrote the introduction to Daft's 'Kings of Cricket' published in 1892). Padwick also reports receiving 'the Souvenir of Lord Hawke's Team From Philadelphia [and] I have landed the 1884 Report of Surrey County C.C. Do you want it'. He concludes with comments relating to Haygarth's 'Scores and Biographies'. 'Haygarth has borrowed £10 & is sending out circulars by wholesale and wants me to print 400 more. It is wearisome work- he stands no suggestions or interference. Any one may help in the work, but only as he dictates'. Nicely signed 'Thomas Padwick'. An interesting insight into the world of Victorian cricket collectors. Horizontal and vertical folds, otherwise in good condition £50/80
- Padwick and Pratt Green had first met in the 1880s. Their friendship grew and Pratt Green married Padwick's daughter in 1896*
- 52 Charles F. Pardon, editor of Wisden Cricketers' Almanack 1887-1890. An original Roneo stencil copy of a circular printed on 'Charles F. Pardon Cricket Reporting Agency' headed paper. The circular, dated 24th November 1888, announces Pardon having 'taken into partnership Mr Sydney H. Pardon, Mr Edgar S. Pardon and Mr C. Stewart Caine who have for many years been my principal assistants. The business will be continued precisely as before, under my management and in my name', with printed signature of 'Charles F. Pardon' below. The text somewhat faded but legible. Horizontal folds, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- Three of the business partners were successive editors of the Wisden Almanack, Charles Pardon from 1887-1890, succeeded on his death by his younger brother, Sydney, until his death in 1925, followed by Stewart Caine who held the post until 1933, shortly before his death in 1934*
- 53 Frederic Moore Searle 'Eric' Parker. Cricket, field sports and countryside writer (1870-1955). Single page handwritten letter dated 24th October 1926 from Parker to the novelist and poet, Mr Coulson Kernahan. Parker writes to apologise for not having forwarded a copy of his recently published book, 'Between the Wickets', which he now encloses. Sold with a single page handwritten note dated 27th September 1945 to an unknown correspondent acknowledging 'your kind loan'. Both letters nicely signed 'Eric Parker'. Also an original press cutting from the Sheffield Mail, dated 19th July 1930, of an article titled 'Laureates of the Cricket Field', featuring a poem by Kernahan. Folds and creasing to the letters, otherwise in good condition £30/50
- 54 John Bertram Payne. Four page handwritten letter dated 25th June 1904 from Payne in Harrogate to an unknown correspondent. Payne writes to acknowledge receipt of a postal order for 'Scores and Analyses' comprising scorecards for sixty matches not found in Wisden, which Payne had compiled and published in 1904. He states, 'I hope to sell a sufficient number of copies to meet expenses but whether I do much more than that is at present problematical'. Referring to his 'Index to Scores and Biographies' published in 1903 he records that 'M.C.C. gave me a splendid start by purchasing 40 copies at 25p.c. discount. Then for some months the sale was nil when suddenly it revived in an unaccountable manner and now I only have 10 copies left'. He refers to 'three script errors' in Scores and Biographies 'which you may like to correct'. Nicely signed 'J.B. Payne'. Horizontal folds, otherwise in very good condition £40/60
- 55 Henry Perkins. Cambridge University, Cambridgeshire & M.C.C. 1854-1868. Single page handwritten letter on M.C.C. letterhead, dated 7th June 1894. - 60 Sir John Collings Squire, journalist, poet and playwright (1884-1958). Single page handwritten letter to J.C. Coldham, dated 9th July 1956. Squire writes apologising for his delay in answering Coldham's letter due to ill health, 'my letters have accumulated, getting polluted I fear with tea and tobacco, and I have answered none of them'. Squire refers to the cricket team, The Invalids, which he founded 'just after the '14 war [and] is still touring the countryside. It was never entirely a literary team- soldiers, politicians and stockbrokers came in if I liked them'. He closes hoping to play in August and September, 'I hope to take wickets'. Signed 'J. Squire'. Sold with a facsimile copy of the poem 'Wake for the Ruddy Ball has taken flight' by Francis Thompson, used by Squire in his 'Anthology of Parodies' of 1929. Horizontal and vertical folds to the letter, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- 61 Edward John Thompson, novelist, historian and poet (1886-1946). Four page handwritten letter dated 28th December 1943 from Thompson to John Arlott. Thompson writes to thank Arlott for a copy of 'Landmarks', the collection of poetry edited by Arlott and Rostrevor Hamilton published in 1943, Arlott's first published book. Thompson had contributed the poem, 'In Praise of Peterborough', and mentions other poets who wrote on landscape. He heartily congratulates Arlott, 'You have done a remarkable job with great skill, & produced a beautiful book on a very high level'. Signed 'Edward Thompson'. G £40/60
- 62 Robert Arthur 'Bob' Thoms. Excellent three page handwritten letter from Thoms to Charles F. Pardon, Editor of Wisden. Thoms writes expressing in strong terms his neutrality on the lbw law, 'I don't want to have any say, or give any opinion, as to whether any alteration is to be or not to be... It is certain that the question is now being again well ventilated; and can be left to the practical law makers, who will have the interest of the game at heart... it is the voices of the majority of the dancers, that will settle the tunes that they wish- and have- to dance to'. Thoms adds in a postscript that over the years he has always answered questions with, 'you will find it Wisden's Almanack, only a shilling'. He refers to an article to appear in the Evening News on the lbw question, in which Thoms is one of the quoted experts, 'what my old friend Bob Thoms calls scientific and premeditated legging'. The letter with address in ink by Thoms, 9 St George's Road, Regents Park, and dated 'Tuesday 21/ [18]88', nicely signed in black ink by Thoms. Light fold otherwise in very good condition £100/150
- Thoms (1826-1903) was a first-class cricket umpire who stood in two Test Matches, the first two played in England, in 1880 and 1882. His long umpiring career in first-class matches lasted from 1863 to 1900. When he died, The Times said that he was "the most famous umpire the game has known". He played in three first-class matches in the period 1850-1851: one for an Under 36 XI, one for Marylebone Cricket Club and Metropolitan Clubs and one for the All England Eleven*

Writing to 'Dear Robinson', Warner thanks him for his letter, 'I feel sure you will enjoy every minute that you spend at Lord's, which Menzies, Australia's P.M. has described as "The Cathedral of Cricket"'. He hopes to meet Robinson there although he has 'been very ill for many weeks & had to have an operation. He hopes Robinson likes 'The Cricketer', of which Warner was editor at the time. Signed 'Pelham F. Warner'. Folds and creasing, otherwise in good condition £30/50
- 64 Andrew John Young, poet and clergyman (1885-1971). Two page handwritten letter from Young to John Arlott, thanking him for a copy of his book 'Gone to the Cricket' published in 1948, and for dedicating the book to him. 'You have done this book extremely well; it is far too good for its railway bookstall appearance. It should be worth a lot of money to anyone who wishes to understand the game... you achieve what you set out to do, make cricket appear like a fine art, demanding a good deal from the spectator. Your surprising dedication is very kind'. Signed 'Andrew' and dated 'Thursday'. VG £30/40
- Andrew Young, a man of the church, poet and keen follower of cricket, was a good friend of Arlott and advised him on his literary work and particularly his poetry*

The letter is undated but probably written c1885 when Daughlish was Captain of the Harrow eleven. Following defeat in a school match Walker writes, 'Having seen so much of the boys this year you will know pretty well what my feelings were on Saturday by comparing them with your own. I have seen 2 Old Harrovians today... each made the same remark "Why on earth weren't the lobs tried more 2nd Jun"?'. 'He continues '...you have no cause to reproach yourself with the result; it was not your fault that in [the] 1st innings at any rate our batting & bowling were both sadly under the mark; and our general good fielding in the match was chiefly due to the trouble you took with the fellows during the term... It is no disgrace to be beaten by an Eleven that shewed such consistently good bowling...'. Nicely signed 'I.D. Walker'. Horizontal folds, otherwise in very good condition £70/100
- Isaac Walker was the youngest of the seven Walker brothers of Southgate who all played for Middlesex. He took over the Middlesex captaincy from his brother Edward in 1873, and held the position until 1884*

- 87 Richard Daft. Nottinghamshire. 1858-91. Handwritten three page letter to an unknown correspondent, possibly a publisher, dated 10th November 1891, regarding the writing of Daft's seminal book 'Kings of Cricket'. 'I will do as you suggest about the old players. If you will kindly lend me Nyren's book I shall be much obliged. My 3rd vol. up to now contains an account of my season of '91... [and] a rather long chapter on the development of the game over the last 50 years. I enclose a letter from Rev. R.S. Holmes who wrote my biography in Cricket. I want to make that book large enough to go through the papers. Grace's book was larger than his newspaper articles you will recollect. I think an expensive book would be a mistake. Something at about half a crown would be best although I think it should be well illustrated'. Nicely signed 'Rich Daft'. Previously sold as lot 146 in the Phillips auction of June 2000. Light folds, otherwise in good/ very good condition £150/250
- Richard Daft was one of the finest batsmen of his day, playing 254 matches for Nottinghamshire scoring 9788 runs at an average of 25.42. - 89 Gerald De Lisle Hough. Kent 1919-1920. Handwritten two page letter to H.W. 'Plum' Warner, Kent enthusiast and collector. Written on Kent C.C.C. headed paper, Hough is discussing the difficulty of identifying capped Kent players. He opens by stating, 'Cricket work is increasing & my mobility decreasing' and that he plans to have a look at the 'Cap file' at the St. Lawrence Ground, Canterbury on the 2nd October. 'I don't altogether agree with your list' and comments on five Kent players. '1) I'm nearly sure Freeman got his cap early in 1920 & was the first to do so after the last war. 2) I got mine v Sussex at Horsham in 1920 & beat J.L. Bryan by one day... 3) R.T. Bryan didn't get his cap until he captained the side about 1937. 4) I'm not sure that Deed even got a cap. 5) Longfield never got a cap. I'm sure of this. Never heard of Atkins! I'm pretty sure H.E.W. Prest & F.H. Knott got caps. Uncertain about Hatfield & Jennings.' He closes by stating that the Club is unlikely to celebrate its centenary 'for a year or two after the armistice with Germany'. Nicely signed 'G. De L. Hough' and dated 9th September 1944. Sold with a further handwritten postcard to Warner from Hough, dated 18th December 1946 relating to George Collins gaining his cap in 1920. Qty 2 G/VG £70/100

It is sad to think you are no longer on the Active List, but no man has served a county so long!. As an old friend of our family I thought you might like to have this memoir of Clem. We think it is well and simply done. D.H.C. (D.H. Crick) is the Bishop of Chester. I hope you and Mrs George are both well. Let us hope that before long we shall meet again at a cricket match. No more now. Yours ever my dear George, E. Rockley Wilson. No answer please!'. G £120/160
- 103 Don Bradman. Single page handwritten letter in ink from Bradman to the cricket writer, Alan Hill, dated 3rd October 1989. Writing

- from his address in Kensington Park, South Australia, Bradman compares the batting techniques of Hobbs, Sutcliffe and Hutton and recollects particular innings. 'I remember very well the great partnership of Hobbs & Sutcliffe at Melbourne in 1929. It was one of the worst sticky wickets I ever saw & I doubt if Australia could have made 100 on it. The outstanding feature was the ability of H & S as to when they had to play a shot & when not... Sutcliffe was masterly in his ability to play a "dead" bat & thereby avoid a close catch and he unflinchingly took blows on the body. In normal cricket I thought Hobbs & Hutton had the finest techniques of anyone. They had no weaknesses. But they both lacked the aggression & attacking power of say Weekes and Sobers. In Hutton's case... I did see him play a couple of superb cameo aggressive innings but they were rare... I would rate [Hutton] a better player than Sutcliffe, especially in technique, but strangely Sutcliffe had the best temperament of them all'. He closes by congratulating Hill on his biography of Les Ames, and commenting on the poor health of Gubby Allen. Excellent cricket content. Light horizontal and vertical folds, otherwise in good condition

Spofforth, the 'Demon Bowler' was arguably the Australian cricket team's finest pace bowler of the nineteenth century and was the first bowler to take 50 Test wickets and the first to take a test hat-trick in 1879. He played in Test Matches for Australia between 1877 and 1887 taking ninety four wickets at an average of 18.41. In 1888 at the end of his first class career he settled in England and married an Englishwoman and played for Derbyshire (not first class) from 1889 to 1891. Derbyshire CCC tried unsuccessfully to persuade the County Cricket Council to allow him to play for Derbyshire without waiting for the usual two years' residential qualification. However, Yorkshire were willing to waive the point so that Spofforth could play against them in two matches in the 1889 season. In one of these games he took fifteen Yorkshire wickets for 81 runs. With the residential qualification met in the following year, Spofforth was able not only to play for Derbyshire but to captain the side in the 1890 season. In England, he went into business as a tea-merchant and became the managing director of the Star Tea Company which belonged to his wife's father and was very successful. He revisited Australia on more than one occasion and retained his interest in the game to the end. Spofforth died on the eve of the 1926 Ashes series from chronic colitis at the age of 72. He left a fortune of £164,000

The 1912 International Lawn Tennis Challenge was the 11th edition of what is now known as the Davis Cup. After a six-year hiatus, France rejoined the competition; however, the United States pulled out of the competition. In the final, the British Isles regained the Cup from Australasia. The final was played at the Albert Ground in Melbourne, Australia on 28-30 November.

Having regained the Davis Cup in 1912, the British Isles did not win it again until 1933

A set of nine original sepia action photographs, of William Gilbert Grace, Gloucestershire & England, taken between 1901 and 1904 by Beldam, one of only two sets of prints produced, one set for production in the books 'Great Batsman, Their Methods at a Glance'

and Great Bowlers and Fielders, Their Methods at a Glance by Beldam and C.B. Fry 1905 & 1906, and the other set for the player concerned. Seven of the photographs were published in the book and two were unpublished. The published photographs were entitled in the book, 'The Grip', 'Stance and first movement', 'Forward push stroke', 'Square Cut', 'Distinctly unorthodox stroke...', 'Mistakes will Happen...' and 'Delivering the ball...' and the two unpublished were 'Lofted Drive...' and 'Straight Drive...'. The photographs were the photographers own set used for publication, and on close inspection Beldam's own impact lines can be seen on the edges of one of the images. Each measures 5"x4". The photographs are very nicely mounted with a four page letter, on London County Cricket Club headed paper and dated 15th September 1903, beautifully handwritten and signed in ink by Grace, to his friend Captain Statham, with cricket content, and the letter partly refers to a match between Gloucestershire and The Gentlemen of Philadelphia played in 1889 'In answer to your enquires regarding my visit to the Britannia in 1889, my son H.E. Grace was not then on the Britannia as he did not join until Jan 1890. It was through Lieutenant Abdy, who had played with me a Lord's that I promised to play. Gloucestershire were playing The Gentlemen of Philadelphia at Bristol on the first day, and it was arranged that I should go down for the second day if I could not go down for the first days play. As the match at Bristol was not over, I went down until late in the evening of the first days play. My friend Abdy was just leaving the Britannia as he had been ordered off for manoeuvres, so took no part in the second days cricket, Lieutenant De Ribeck was deputed to look after me which I need not say he did right well.... I am sorry I do not recollect more details, but to go back fourteen years is a long time, believe me'. - England won the 1926 Ashes series against Australia, winning the last Test of the series after the first four matches were drawn. Because the series was at stake, the match was to be 'timeless' (played to a finish). Australia had a narrow first innings lead of 22. Hobbs and Sutcliffe took the score to 49-0 at the end of the second day, a lead of 27. Heavy rain fell overnight, and next day the pitch soon developed into a traditional sticky wicket. England seemed certain to be bowled out cheaply and to lose the match. In spite of the very difficult batting conditions, however, Hobbs and Sutcliffe took their partnership to 172 before Hobbs was out for exactly 100. Sutcliffe went on to make 161 and in the end England won the game comfortably*
