Top portion laid to unevenly trimmed remnant of an album page. Light folds, otherwise in good/ very good condition £50/70
- 27 Len Hutton. Yorkshire & England 1934-1955. 'Test Matches'. Original five page typed manuscript of an article written by Hutton, date and publication unknown, with excellent content covering subjects relating to his Test debut in 1937, and much on the 1938 Ashes series including achieving his record score of 364. Hutton describes receiving his County Cap in 1936, his excitement on his selection for the 1937 series against New Zealand having made scores of 136 v Kent and 271no v Derbyshire in his two previous matches, and 153 in an opening stand of 315 with Sutcliffe on the eve of the first Test on his 21st birthday. Tired and nervous after his recent exploits, he describes his disappointment of being bowled out for 0 by Cowie in the first innings and letting down the 'few gentlemen on the pavillion [sic], who had probably left the broad acres to see the Pudsey wonder perform! My skipper [R.W.V. Robins] greeted me with the words, 'For goodness sake don't do that against Australia next year!' and compares these words with similar advice given to him by Maurice Leyland when Hutton made his first-class debut for Yorkshire at Cambridge in 1934 and was run out without scoring. Hutton failed again in the second innings of the first Test, making one, but made his first Test century in the second Test at Old Trafford. In the opening 1938 Ashes Test, Hutton made 100 in England's only innings in an opening stand of 218 with Barnett (126). 'During my stand at the wicket I mentioned to Don [Bradman] that I saw him make his record score [334, Headingley 1930], two months later he was the first to shake my hand at the Oval when I made 364'. He recalls Bill O'Reilly as a 'great bowler', 'what great appealers the Aussies were', and Stan McCabe scoring 232 out of 300 in under four hours in the first Test. Highlights of the second Test include Hammond's innings of 240 in the second Test, Brown's 206no, Compton 76no on a rain affected pitch, and Bradman saving Australia from defeat. The third Test was washed out, and Hutton missed the fourth Test at his home ground of Headingley having fractured a finger against Middlesex at Lord's, and was grateful for the work of 'Jim Wright of Bingley in no small way' to get me fit for the final Test match at the Oval' where Hutton overtook Bradman's

- record, scoring 364 including a record stand with Maurice Leyland 'adding 382 for the second wicket' a record for any wicket in Test matches in England'. He describes how 'The sturdy figure of Leyland emerged from the pavilion, on seeing Maurice Bill [O'Reilly] murmured 'This Yorkshire — here again. O'Reilly strove long and hard on that beautiful Oval wicket. His bowling was of the highest order, the turf did not give him the slightest assistance. I place Bill O'Reilly as the most interesting bowler whom I have played against. Every ball from him required watching, he changed his pace and was always attacking, each ball had everything that Bill could give it'. Hutton mentions his gratitude for the support of Leyland and Joe Hardstaff during his record innings and closes with a description of his feelings as he approached Bradman's score, 'The real strain began to tell on the Tuesday morning, my score at the end of the 1st day's play was 160, at the end of the second day 300. After a full day at the wicket I have always found it difficult to obtain a good night's sleep. On the Monday night I did not sleep a wink, wanting 35 more runs, and knowing full well that I should have to fight every inch of the way'. An excellent first hand account of an England batting legend. G/VG £300/500
- 28 Len Hutton. Yorkshire & England 1934-1955. Original five page typescript, with the odd handwritten annotation, for an article written for the News of the World, dated 7th July 1955, the first day of the third Test, England v South Africa at Old Trafford. Hutton is following the match from his home. The pages are numbered 2-6, lacking the first page. The article primarily concerns the subject of umpiring and the attributes required to be a successful umpire. 'From half past eleven until half past six he must stand on his feet, count six balls an over, watch the bowlers for no-balls, and throwing, give instantaneous answer to leg-before appeals, even when the exactitude of a micrometer would be necessary to provide the correct decision'. Other attributes required include correct positioning to avoid fielders, judge run-outs, short runs, stumpings, snicks off bat and pad, bump balls, and the need for absolute concentration throughout. Hutton states he 'should hate to be an umpire' and quotes Eddie Paynter who retired from umpiring after only one season, 'it's a darned sight harder than playing', and admires Frank Chester who had 'such a deep and genuine affection for the game' from a young age. Hutton continues with his thoughts on players' honesty, sportsmanship and 'personal integrity' on the field relating to whether a catch was taken cleanly or not, and the 'duty of the fieldsman to signify at once whether the catch was 'clean', citing Arthur 'Ticker' Mitchell of Yorkshire and 'his unfailing honesty' he never threw the ball in the air to try and influence an umpire's verdict'. Finally, Hutton emphasises the need to accept the umpire's decision 'without question and without pause', bemoaning 'umpire-baiting' and comparing it with 'referee-baiting' in football, comparing the excitability and volatility of the footballer Hughie Gallcher with Stanley Matthews, and that of Doug Wright with the 'jack-in-the-box', Godfrey Evans. Hutton closes with thanks to those 'who have sent me good wishes during my rest' I hope to resume in the Yorkshire side against Middlesex at Lord's', and describes his pleasure on hearing about Denis Compton's performance in the current Test match, 'Can there be any doubt now that he is the greatest 'crisis' batsman in the last two decades?'. A fascinating insight into the characters of the game at the time. Some creasing and wear, overall in good condition £100/150
- 29 'New Zealand Against England. Some further reflections'. Alan Gibson, journalist, writer and radio broadcaster. Three page original copy typescript for an article written by Gibson, presumably for 'The Cricketer', at the start of a New Zealand tour to England. The article provides a history of cricket between the two countries, starting with the 1863 tour by Parr's team and continues with an account of Lillywhite's tour in 1876/77 including the arrest in Canterbury of England wicketkeeper, Eric Pooley, over a gambling incident which led to a fight. Pooley's arrest forced him to miss the rest of the tour including the Test matches in Australia. Gibson gives an interesting account of the Englishmen's love of champagne, 'there are many instances of English cricketers, in forlorn moments far from home, clamouring for champagne. I sometimes wonder whether this is the origin of the term 'Pommy'. He closes with an account of the match v M.C.C. at Lord's on New Zealand's first tour to England, in 1927, in which 1502 runs were scored in three days. Some hand corrections and amendments. Horizontal folds. Good condition £60/90
- 30 F.S. Ashley-Cooper. 'Mr. W.G. Grace's 100s in First-Class Cricket'. A unique two page undated (c1916?) compilation by Ashley-Cooper in ink on two pages of foolscap paper, tipped in to modern green boards. Light foxing, otherwise in good/ very good condition £200/300
- Grace's centuries as listed in this compilation were included in his obituary that appeared in the 1916 edition of Wisden. Grace's career figures were later revised
- 31 W.G. Grace Testimonial 1879. In support of the above, for which I will send you a cheque in due course'. Produced in support of the Testimonial Fund for Grace, at which he was presented with a clock and £1,458. VG £40/60
- 32 Hinton St. George C.C. Somerset 1828. An early four page document in beautiful copperplate handwriting of the Rules of the Club 'agreed upon by the undersigned on the 13th day of July 1827'. The document also lists the members with pencil notes on when they had paid their subscriptions and total figures. A very early foundation of a club that still exists today and lays claim to be the second oldest club in Somerset. Tipped in to blue cloth boards. Light folds, otherwise in very good condition £50/80
- 33 Brian Johnston. Broadcaster and cricket commentator. An interesting selection of poetry, scripts and letters from the estate of Brian Johnston. Contents include three poems by Les Bailey, each neatly handwritten on large page with illustration image. Subjects are Johnston himself, presented by the Wombwell Cricket Lovers Society and dated 1974, Patsy Hendren 1976, and 'Sam the Staffordshire Bull Terrier', undated. Each measures 12"x10". Sold with a red folder comprising a forty six page collection of poems by Bailey titled 'Unforgettable Men of Mystery', presented to Johnston and signed by Bailey. Also a selection of loose sheets of Bailey's sent to Johnston, the majority signed. A good number of these poems appeared in Johnston's books. Also an original typescript of 'The Ostlethwaite Controversy (The Ashes Series of 1998) by John Bright, a letter from the publisher, Angus & Robertson, to Johnston inviting him to write a foreword for 'Cricket Widows' by Noel Ford, including copies of the cartoons etc. G £50/70

- 86 John Henniker-Major, 5th Baron Henniker. Two page handwritten letter on Thornham Hall, Eye (Suffolk) note paper to Dr Short, dated 14th September 1877. Henniker-Major is writing to thank Short 'for the most enjoyable day's cricket the three young people had on Wednesday... I will send you over as good an eleven as I can on Friday next. I cannot come myself as I shall be away from home. Nicely signed 'J Henniker'. Horizontal folds. Good condition
£18/25
- John Henniker-Major served as Member of Parliament for East Suffolk and was appointed Governor of the Isle of Man in 1895 where he died in 1902. He established a cricket ground at Thornham Hall in 1876*
- 87 Evelyn Rockley Wilson. Cambridge University, Yorkshire & England 1899-1923. Original single page handwritten letter dated 5th March 1940 from Wilson to 'Mr [Arthur] Langford', then assistant editor to Plum Warner of The Cricketer magazine. Wilson is returning corrected proofs for an article he has written, 'hardly any correction

- necessary', and requests that a further fact he has learned be added. Nicely signed 'E Rockley Wilson'. Horizontal and vertical folds, otherwise in good condition £50/80
- 88 Percy Holmes. Yorkshire & England 1913-1933. Original two page letter in Holmes' neat hand to 'Dear George'. Dated 'Dec. 15th' (1940s?), Holmes is pleased to hear from the correspondent having been away at Colwyn Bay. He refers to improvement to his knee, 'I am going to have it done in the first week in the New Year', and bemoans the difficulty his son is having finding a job. He asks that his best wishes are sent to 'Mr Killick' and his wife (it is not known whether this is E.T. Killick of Middlesex or E.H. Killick of Sussex). Nicely signed 'Percy Holmes'. Light horizontal and vertical folds, otherwise in very good condition £50/70
- 89 Herbert Sutcliffe. Yorkshire & England 1919-1945. Three original handwritten letters from Sutcliffe to 'Mr. Milne'. The letters, written from Sutcliffe's home in Pudsey, are dated 29th March 1951, 4th April 1951 and 6th January 1952. In the first letter Sutcliffe thanks Milne for the suggestion of chocolates, 'Mrs Sutcliffe will be delighted to receive them', and offers to arrange for a ticket to the Leeds Test match, which 'would do you good'. By 4th April the chocolates had arrived safely, and Sutcliffe has asked 'my manager to forward to you 3 doz photographs', promises a copy of the 1951 Yorkshire Year Book, and offers copies of 'a few dozen books on 'How to Become a First Class Batsman' on a 'sale or return' basis'. In the final letter Sutcliffe looks forward to the Lord's Test and recounts an enjoyable family 'frolic' to London. All three letters nicely signed 'Herbert Sutcliffe'. Light folds. Good condition £50/70
- 90 John Tunnicliffe. Yorkshire 1891-1907. Plain postcard with printed 'John Tunnicliffe, General Athletic Outfitter, Bradford & Sheffield' printed header. Tunnicliffe is replying to a request from the collector, Charles Pratt Green in Great Malvern, for a bat for his collection. 'I want them all for show at my shops' but have sent you one'. Signed by Tunnicliffe'. The card undated and the postmark concealed by adhesive mark to the address side, but appears to be late 1890s. Other minor wear, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- Charles Pratt Green compiled a significant collection of cricket bats which were later sold to Sir Julian Cahn*
- 91 Martin Bladen Hawke, Lord Hawke. Yorkshire, Cambridge University & England 1881-1911. Original handwritten two page letter from Hawke dated 8th September 1908 on Wighill Park, Tadcaster notepaper. Hawke is writing to thank the unknown correspondent for the 'generous congratulations' on Yorkshire's winning of the County Championship, and declining an invitation to attend a Society event. Signed 'Hawke'. Light folds otherwise in good condition £60/90
- 92 Martin Bladen Hawke, Lord Hawke. Yorkshire, Cambridge University & England 1881-1911. Short original undated handwritten note from Hawke referring to a recent performance by Frank Milligan (Yorkshire & England 1894-1899). Signed 'Hawke'. Foxing and light folds, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- 93 Don Bradman. Single page typed letter from Bradman dated 20th April 1997. Writing to 'Dear John' of the Worcester porcelain factory who, in 1938, produced a presentation vase to commemorate Bradman scoring a double century in each of the opening matches at Worcester on the 1930, 1934 and 1938 tours, the vase decorated with a scene of Bradman in batting action painted by Harry Davis. Bradman explains that he donated the vase to the South Australia State Library where it is on display in a glass case 'and consequently I cannot send you a photo of me standing by it'. He suggests the correspondent refers to the story about the vase that featured in one of 'The Bradman Albums' volumes as his memory is 'hazy' following a recent stroke. The letter is signed in ink 'Don Bradman'. VG £50/80
- 94 Herbert Sutcliffe. Yorkshire & England 1919-1945. Original handwritten letter in ink from Sutcliffe, written on 'Herbert Sutcliffe Ltd Sporting Goods' letterhead, dated 5th November 1937. Writing to 'Mr Frewer' of the Oxford Luncheon Club where Sutcliffe attended at the Clarendon Hotel, Oxford, 29th October 1937, Sutcliffe writes, 'A thousand thanks for your wonderful compliments. I am so glad the members enjoyed my address. Herewith the programme duly autographed together with a [signed] photograph as requested. Yours sincerely, Herbert Sutcliffe'. The letter is laid to contemporary board with the signed programme and photograph of Sutcliffe in batting pose in the nets. To the verso are press cuttings including an image of Sutcliffe attending the function with accompanying report. Overall 13'x10'. Some ageing and wear to extremities, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- 95 Hesketh Vernon Hesketh-Prichard. Hampshire & London County 1900-1913. Original two page handwritten letter from Hesketh-Prichard to 'O. Alderson'. The letter is undated, but appears to refer to Worcestershire v Hampshire, 16th-18th May 1912, in which Hesketh-Prichard took eleven wickets, including that of George Simpson-Hayward (Worcestershire 1899-1914, captain 1911-1912), Hampshire winning by eight wickets. The letter opens intriguingly, 'I enclose cards. Next time the man offers to take me away smack him smartly in the eye with your hat & at the same moment stab him with some concealed weapon in the midriff'. Try this. It is a good American method'. Regarding the cricket match, 'Simpson-Hayward said when he saw me, 'Oh. I thought you'd given up cricket'. The lad was very good to me because when S-Hayward was batting I got him caught at [the] wicket but not thinking it was out did not appeal. When asked why not it pleased me to say that it amused me too much to watch poor George's efforts to play me for me to take advantage of his first rotten shot'. Signed 'HP'. Light folds and minor wear, otherwise in good condition £80/120
- Hesketh-Prichard served in the British Army in the First World War and was decorated for developing improved marksmanship techniques. In later years he was a writer, journalist and animal rights campaigner*
- 96 William Eric Bowes. Yorkshire & England 1929-1947. Single page handwritten letter dated 24th June 1975 from Bowes to 'Mr Wright'. Bowes has just returned from a holiday in Yugoslavia and remembers the correspondent from 'Wakefield & Dist. C.V. dinners' and thanks him for news of Jack Smith. Signed 'Bill Bowes'. Horizontal and vertical folds not affecting the signature. G £30/40
- 97 Martin Bladen Hawke, Lord Hawke. Yorkshire, Cambridge University & England 1881-1911. Original handwritten note in ink from Hawke on Royal Bath Hotel, Bournemouth notepaper, replying to a request for his autograph. Signed 'Hawke'. Small adhesive marks not affecting the signature. Light folds, otherwise in good condition £50/70
- 98 John Arlott. Typed aerogramme letter from Arlott to Leslie Gutteridge living in Alberta, dated 22nd February 1972. Writing on literary themes, Arlott first congratulates Gutteridge on the 'genuine find' of a work by Thoreau, and continues with regard to a Thomas Hardy inscription, responding to a question posed by

- Gutteridge who had acquired an inscribed copy of Tess of the d'Urbervilles. Arlott describes a copy in his own possession, 'I have an inscribed copy to his second wife – in fact of the first illustrated edition of 'Tess', and describes the manner and style of the inscription. Arlott and Gutteridge shared a love of literature and its bibliography and Arlott was a regular customer at Epworth Books before Gutteridge emigrated to Canada. Handwritten sign-off in ink from Arlott, and signed 'John'. G/VG £40/60
- 99 Royman Browne. Cricket artist and illustrator. Single page typed letter with handwritten corrections from Browne to Jack Sokell of the Wombwell Cricket Lovers' Society. Dated 10th May 1965, Browne is replying to an invitation to give a repeat of his illustrated talk on 'Cricket and the Cartoonist'. He considers this a great honour but that time and money are problems, but suggests a Saturday and a nominal fee of six guineas 'and even this, of course, attracts Income Tax!' and offers to not travel 'first [class]' to keep costs down. Signed 'Royman Browne'. Horizontal and vertical folds, otherwise in good condition £30/40
- Royman Browne produced many cartoons and illustrations for Playfair Cricket Monthly in the 1950/60's*
- 100 Edward Mills Grace. Gloucestershire & England 1870-1895. Three page handwritten letter to the writer and collector, A.J. Gaston, on Park House, Thornbury note paper with Gloucestershire C.C.C. emblem to top, dated 14th February 1902. Writing in his capacity as Secretary of the Club, Grace writes with regard to the batting order of the Gloucestershire team in the match against Nottinghamshire at Trent Bridge, 31st July-1st August 1884. 'It seems a funny way of entering in the score book, but I give you the exact copy. You have Townsend in after Pullen, in our score book Painter comes in No. 4, Page 5, F Townsend six. Also we start with Gilbert 1, Brain 2', continuing by listing the full batting order for the Gloucestershire second innings, and confirming that Attewell 'though only taking 6 wickets altogether, took the first & the last in both innings'. Additional annotations, presumably in Gaston's hand, 'The late Dr. E.M. Grace' to front, and 'W.G. Nash-Surrey' after Grace's signature. Nicely signed Edward Mills Grace. Small loss to top of page three, adhesive damage and splitting to fold having been previously mounted. Otherwise in good condition £120/160
- 101 Martin Bladen Hawke, Lord Hawke. Yorkshire, Cambridge University & England 1881-1911. Three page handwritten letter on his Wighill Park, Tadcaster headed notepaper dated 31st August 1892. The letter with good content relating to travel arrangements and fixtures for the 1892/93 tour to India. Writing to an unknown correspondent, Hawke is 'very pleased to play two three day matches at Allahabad [v Northern India and v All India, January 1893]'. Hawke hopes to spend Christmas week with Lord Harris, followed by two matches at Calcutta. 'I will write you from Madras where we hope to arrive Nov. 23rd'. Signed 'Hawke'. An important letter relating to the first tour of India by an English team. Foxing to pages, horizontal fold, otherwise in good condition £100/150
- 102 Arthur Haygarth, M.C.C. Sussex and Middlesex, 1844-1861. Original four page handwritten letter to an unknown correspondent, dated 19th November 1887. Haygarth writes about his 'Scores and Biographies' and 150 copies of circulars he has just received to be sent to players. He states he will fill in the forms with the match details required 'and Mr. [C.W.] Alcock will have to post them. It will take a very long time to get the material I require' as some have to come from Australia. I shall say that at the earliest Vol XIV will not appear till 1890'. Haygarth bemoans the time and money he has spent on the venture, 'Had I known in 1852 (when I first offered F. Lillywhite the scores I then had), the trouble & expense it would be to me I would never would have begun it. Now that it has got as far as 1876 I wish to carry on to the end'. Nicely signed 'Arthur Haygarth'. Splitting to fold, light creasing, otherwise in good condition £100/150
- Arthur Haygarth is best remembered for compiling the fifteen volumes of 'Cricket Scores and Biographies' 1862-1895 and 1925, the first four published by F. Lillywhite, the remainder by M.C.C.*
- 103 Leonard 'Len' Hutton. Yorkshire & England 1934-1955. Three page handwritten letter from Hutton to J.P. Coldham, dated 6th January 1983. Writing from Ebor House, Kingston upon Thames, Hutton is replying to a request for information about F.S. Jackson. He recalls the time he was a patient in hospital in 1942, recovering from an operation to his left arm that he broke while on a commando course. He was surprised to receive a visit from Jackson who 'spent an hour or so with me, & talked of many cricketers whom I never saw play, but I knew very much about them'. At that time Hutton felt he would never play cricket again so 'his visit did me a great deal of good, I was very low indeed at the time'. Hutton found Jackson to be charming, kind and knowledgeable, and was impressed that he had travelled from London to the hospital on the outskirts of Wakefield, 'travel was not easy in 1942'. Signed 'Len Hutton'. G/VG £70/100
- Coldham published his biography of Jackson in 1989*
- 104 Frank Kendon. Writer, poet and academic. Single page handwritten letter from Kendon to John Arlott, dated 13th December 1943. Writing from his office at University Press, Cambridge, Kendon refers to the recently published book of poetry, 'Landmarks', edited by Arlott and G.R. Hamilton. Kendon is pleased Arlott likes the publication, though 'It is war marked; sad not to have a fairer margin, & sadder still to have such part used paper', and provides Arlott with the address in Cambridge of the artist, John Hookam, who produced the front wrapper artwork. Signed 'Frank Kendon'. On the reverse is a list in pencil in Arlott's hand of people who probably had copies sent to them. An interesting letter about Arlott's first published book. Horizontal folds, otherwise in good/ very good condition £50/80
- Kendon worked for Cambridge University Press from 1935 to 1954*
- 105 Alan Alexander [A.A.] Milne. A rare cricket-related single page handwritten letter from Milne to his niece, Marjorie, undated but with original envelope postmarked 24th December 1934. Milne is enclosing gifts of £5 each to Marjorie and 'Alison for when she is a more responsible age: say 5'. He writes about another family member, Dom[?], who 'was 5/20 in the scholarship form' He now goes to the cricket school of 'Sandham, Strudwick & Brookes' (very Surrey) under the special charge of the first named'. Signed 'Alan'. The envelope is addressed to Mrs Murray-Rust, Marjorie's married name. G/VG £140/180
- A.A. Milne (1882-1956) was an English author, best known for his books about the teddy bear Winnie-the-Pooh and for various poems. After graduating from Cambridge University in 1903, Milne contributed humorous verse and whimsical essays to Punch, joining the staff in 1906 and becoming an assistant editor. Milne was a noted writer, primarily as a playwright, before the huge success of Pooh overshadowed all his previous work. Milne served in both World Wars, joining the British Army in World War I, and was a captain of the*

- British Home Guard in World War II. Considered a talented cricket fielder, Milne played for two amateur teams that were largely composed of British writers: the Allahakbarries and the Authors XI. His team mates included fellow writers, J. M. Barrie, Arthur Conan Doyle and P. G. Wodehouse*
- 106 Robert Arthur Thoms. Umpire. Two notes handwritten by Thoms. In one single page note, signed by Thoms and dated 1886, Thoms describes how 'there is nothing new under the sun' and that cricketers could not get on without the leather (ball) 'yet it must be allowed there is something new in the invention of the indestructible leather handled cricket bat recently patented by that celebrated cricket bat maker Cobbett so that now when we have leather driving the leather the old adage is justly realized, that there is 'nothing like leather'. The other, a two page note, possibly part of a longer letter, relates to bowlers who 'throw'. 'What a storm in the tea-pot there has been about this 'throwing' if you stand some 3 to 5 yards from the wicket you can then take in the bowler's 'drop' on to his foot and then instantly watch his arm for the delivery'. He recalls a bowler 'who was very clever in mixing up his doubtful express ones' and was particularly effective with his mysterious ones'. Thoms suggests his correspondent should 'come and see me any evening most convenient for you. From 7 to 7.30 will be best and we can have a good talk'. Light folds and some ageing to one note, otherwise in good condition
£80/120
- Robert Arthur 'Bob' Thoms (1826-1903) was a first-class cricket umpire who stood in two Test Matches, the first two played in England, in 1880 and 1882. His long umpiring career in first-class matches lasted from 1863 to 1900. When he died, The Times said that he was 'the most famous umpire the game has known'. He played in three first-class matches in the period 1850-1851: one for an Under 36 XI, one for Marylebone Cricket Club and Metropolitan Clubs and one for the All England Eleven*
- 107 Charles Jesse Kortright. Essex 1893-1907. Single page handwritten letter from Kortright to John Arlott at Broadcasting House arranging to meet at Thorndon Park Golf Club 'next Sunday'. Enclosed with the letter is a three page speech handwritten on foolscap paper, for a speech on W.G. Grace that Kortright was to give at a forthcoming celebration of the centenary of Grace's birthday. He describes first meeting Grace when playing for M.C.C. v The Australians in May [actually June] 1888 (Kortright's first-class debut, he took three and six wickets), and found Grace to be 'most kind and encouraging'. He suggests that Grace, Lord Harris and Percy Perrin played fast bowling the best. He devotes a page to the dramatic finish to the Gentlemen v Player match in 1898 when he, batting at 11, just failed to see out the final over handing victory to the Gentlemen, Kortright scoring 46 in a last wicket stand of 78 with Grace. Both the letter and speech have Arlott's handwritten notes at the top in pencil. Contained in modern blue slipcase. G/VG £120/160
- 108 India tour to England 1952. Plain typed postcard from Prof. N.S. Phadke in Delhi, dated 11th June 1952, to Major Upfold, thanking Upfold for his positive review of Phadke's recently published book, 'India vs M.C.C. Tests 1951-52' and to report that the book is selling well in Delhi and in England. Signed in ink 'N.S. Phadke'. Sold with an official invitation to the Dinner held for the Indian Cricket Team in England at the Pavilion, Bournemouth, 30th August 1952. Also an unofficial folding souvenir programme and scorecard for the 1952 tour with team photograph to front, pen pictures to centre, and scorecard to verso. Qty 3. Good condition £40/60

- 110 John Glennie Greig. Hampshire, 1901-1922. Single page handwritten letter in ink from Greig dated 15th December 1928. Greig is replying to an enquiry about photographs and refers the correspondent to the Bournemouth photographer, 'Messrs Bailey', of whom Greig states, 'I fancy he is the man who took photographs at Dean Park. He has been doing so since I became Secretary of the Club in 1922'. Nicely signed 'J.G. Greig. Lt. Colonel'. Light folds, otherwise in good condition £40/60
- Greig's County cricket was limited by his military career. He served as Secretary to Hampshire from 1921 to 1930, and President in 1945 and 1946. In 1935 he was ordained in Rome as a Catholic priest*
- 111 F.S. Ashley-Cooper. Two handwritten letters from Ashley-Cooper to E.B.V. Christian from his home in Wallington, Surrey, regarding his proposed Anthology. The first is a two page letter dated 10th December 1912 in which he thanks Christian for some suggested names and will write again as works progresses. He asks whether the 'Professor of Music' referred to in Christian's 'At the Sign of the Wicket' is much of a poet, and whether Christian has compiled a list of the cricket verses published in 'Punch', and his intention to provide footnotes for early poems. In the second two page letter, dated 24th February 1913, he asks further questions and thanks Christian for his help. No evidence is known of Ashley-Cooper having published his anthology. Horizontal and vertical folds, overall in good condition
£70/100
- 112 Frederick Smith, Second Earl of Birkenhead. Single page typed letter signed 'Birkenhead' to the cricket collector and lawyer, J.W. Goldman. Dated 23rd November 1965, Birkenhead, who is writing a biography about Walter Turner Monckton, 1st Viscount Monckton of Brenchley, thanks Goldman for his interesting letter about Monckton, whom Birkenhead used to meet regularly at the Eton v Harrow match at Lord's (Monckton played for Harrow in the 1910 match and in one first-class match for a combined Oxford and Cambridge University side in 1911). G/VG £25/35
- Birkenhead's biography of Viscount Monckton was published in 1969 and contains many cricket references. Monckton was President of M.C.C. 1956/57, and also of Surrey 1950-1952 and 1959 to 1965. He served as Attorney-General at the time of the abdication of King Edward VIII*
- 113 William Norman Birkett, 1st Baron Birkett. Single page handwritten letter dated 30th January 1952. Writing from the Royal Courts of Justice to Ron Yeomans, founder of the Northern Cricket Society, Birkett regrets he is unable to attend 'a Cricket Dinner in Yorkshire during a Test Match' due to heavy engagements. The letter, signed 'Norman Birkett', appears to have been written in a different hand, probably dictated. Some ageing and small adhesive marks to verso,

- otherwise in good condition £25/35
- Lord Birkett was a judge at the Nuremberg Trials. He edited "The Game of Cricket" illustrated by a series of pictures in the M.C.C. Museum
- 114 Gerald Brodribb. Cricket historian and archaeologist. Two page handwritten letter dated 6th April [1956?]. Brodribb is writing from his home in Sussex to J.D. Coldham, giving Coldham the address of Henry Sayen in New Jersey. Sayen was a first-class cricketer who was a member of the 1908 Philadelphia tour to England, and his memoirs 'A Yankee Looks at Cricket, as told to Gerald Brodribb' were published in 1956. Brodribb states, 'It's an odd subject and I only hope it may do something to help the game over there'. Brodribb is now settled in Sussex he hopes to 'get up to London more easily, so here's to our meeting again soon'. Signed 'Gerald Brodribb'. G £25/35
- 115 J.D. 'Jim' Coldham. A selection of twenty five handwritten letters preserved in a modern maroon cloth box, from the collection of H.W. 'Plum' Warner. Twenty letters are from Jim Coldham, and three from his father, to Warner covering the period 1943 to 1951, and two later, also one letter to E.K. 'Ted' Brown. Coldham writes from his army bases in the U.K. and later in India, and from his home after demobilisation. Good content relating to cricket, collecting and army life. Includes references to purchases of autographs, photographs and books. Coldham describes playing cricket in India, and meeting J.W. Goldman's wife in 1943 who invited him to meet Goldman whose collection then amounted to 3686 books, much cricketana, and four sets of Wisdens, 'He was very kind and gave me a copy of the 1884 Wisden and confessed he was quite mad!'. Approximately one hundred pages of interesting correspondence in total. G/VG £120/160
- 116 Edgar Mills Grace, son of Edward Mills Grace. Two page handwritten letter from Edgar M. Grace dated 28th June 1960 to Neville Weston. Grace notes Weston's visit to Bristol but 'my movements are uncertain for next week as if my great nephew Richard Bernard is selected to play for Cambridge at Lord's this year I hope to be there'. He suggests Weston contacts R.W. Setchell of Thornbury 'in whose custody the Thornbury Cricket Club Score Books are and I am sure he will place them at your disposal for scrutiny... Mr Ashley Cooper combed our records fairly thoroughly'. Signed Edgar M. Grace. Includes a press obituary cutting of Grace's death. G/VG £30/50
- 117 Alec Jack. Four page handwritten letter dated 14th February 1901. Writing to Rev. R.S. Holmes in Wakefield, Jack writes, 'I am pleased to learn that you have been interested by the Cricket Club Report [probably Walham Green C.C.] drawn up by me in 1897; and have pleasure in sending herewith a copy of the one issued for 1898 as well as an incomplete copy of the 1896 issue. The earlier reports dating back to 1893 are used up now... It seems strange that the copy you have should have made its way to Wakefield, as the reports were distributed only amongst members of the Club and their local friends'. Signed 'Alec Jack'. G/VG £30/40
- 118 James Charles 'Jim' Laker. Surrey, Auckland, Essex & England 1946-1964. Single page handwritten letter to Tom Veivers (Queensland & Australia 1958-1968) dated 20th May 1964. Laker is writing regarding an ointment to help Veivers harden his fingers to help him get through the forthcoming Australia tour to England in 1964. 'It is a mixture made of 10% Formalin, 85% Pure Alcohol, 5% Surgical Spirit. If you dab it on 2 or 3 times a day it should do the trick'. Nicely signed 'Jim Laker'. Light folds, otherwise in good/ very good condition. Sold with an original mono press photograph of Veivers bowling out Richard Hutton in the 1964 tour match against Cambridge University. Nicely signed in black ink by Veivers. 10"x8". G/VG £40/60
- 119 Don Bradman. A fascinating collection of correspondence between Bradman and Christopher Martin-Jenkins, then editor of 'The Cricketer' magazine relating to short-pitch bowling. The first letter is a response to an editorial in the October 1984 issue of 'The Cricketer', written by Christopher Martin-Jenkins, in which the subject of intimidatory short pitched bowling was raised, including the possible introduction of measures such as increasing the length of the pitch, painting a line on the pitch, restricting the bowler's run up to ten yards, or a change in the law such that a batsman is not out caught if the ball had struck the glove or bat handle. Bradman responds to these ideas in a single page typed letter dated 3rd October 1984 to Martin-Jenkins, having read the article 'with interest... and astonishment'. Bradman acknowledges the need to remove 'intimidation as a tactic' but lays the blame with umpires 'unwilling to exercise a moral judgement'. His view on the abolition of batsmen being out off the glove 'is an illogical and stupid way of trying to solve [the issue]', and that the idea of lengthening the pitch 'would be equally absurd, penalising batsmen of all types'.
- Bradman concludes by questioning whether the LBW law is adequate for spinners. 'Don't support remedies which don't make sense... I believe you are on the wrong track'. Signed 'Don'. In Martin-Jenkins' typed copy reply, dated 11th October 1984, he quotes statistical evidence supporting the concept of lengthening the pitch in proportion to the growing height of bowlers over time and increased speed through 'modern nutrition and physical training methods'. Bradman replies on the 30th October with a lengthy three page typed letter reiterating his views in strong terms on 'the foolishness of the "not out caught" idea' and that lengthening the pitch would be unfair to slow and medium paced bowlers. He uses colourful language such as 'utter fallacy', 'arrant rubbish', and is 'totally unmoved by your argument', refuting the view that modern bowlers are 'fitter, stronger and faster' and provides lengthy anecdotal evidence. He closes with a request that his views are not to be published but is happy for this letter to be shown to Jim Swanton 'and would be interested to know his re-action'. Signed 'Don'. In Martin-Jenkins' reply of 8th November he acknowledges that the change to catches off the glove 'would not be a good thing', but does not accept all of Bradman's arguments about fast bowlers, and further supports the introduction of a line across the pitch. On 28th November Bradman suggests the introduction into Test matches of a wide off a short ball, as was already the case in limited over cricket, but suggests that the 'stumbling block would be the West Indies... because they would regard "anything" as a move to blunt their fire power. Signed 'Don'. Later correspondence in 1992 relates to Bradman's agreement to the 'return to the back foot for judging a no-ball', and readdresses the subject of lengthening the distance between the two creases, and the supposed increase of the average height of players over time. He provides interesting evidence from a book written by W.G. Grace in 1891 in which Grace quoted the height and weight of players of his era, and lists numerous players over six foot in height, including Grace himself who was 6' at the age of sixteen. Signed 'Don Bradman'. Finally, Martin-Jenkins responds on 23rd June 1992 by thanking Bradman for his trouble, but that this 'has not altered my view that it would be desirable to at least experiment with some matches played by first-class cricketers with the stumps set a foot further back at either end and with the old back foot [no-ball] law in operation'. A fascinating insight into Bradman's opinions on the modern

- 137 'A Critic's Balance Sheet'. Dudley Carew. Four page handwritten manuscript of an article by Carew for 'The Cricketer' magazine, in which he discusses the British press, and its 'somewhat eccentric, bizarre and unpredictable appearance of the men who write for England', including two examples of when he considers he himself made errors. The first was, 'the failure to appreciate the full worth of Barnett's innings in 1938 at Trent Bridge', which he describes as 'staggering short-sightedness', and the second relates to an incident at Scarborough where he was overruled by Wilfred Rhodes from the back of the press box as to the quality of an over just bowled. Included is a copy of the December 1966 issue of the magazine in which the article appeared, also a selection of letters and notes from Carew to Irving Rosenwater, and a letter to Carew, apparently from George Pope, about an extraordinary pre-war match between Derbyshire and Surrey. - 138 E.V. Lucas. Rare and unique manuscript handwritten by Lucas of an article titled 'Peers on the Pitch' for the series 'A Wanderers Note Book', undated, probably 1930s. 26pp including odd typed extracts, some pages misnumbered. Written in his distinctive hand with line lengths decreasing down the page, with corrections, Lucas records having read with great interest G.B. Buckley's works on early cricket references and specifically his finding of the first recorded reference to an eleven-a-side match in 1697 in Sussex, seen in the 7th July 1697 issue of 'Foreign Post'. He continues by considering the background to a 1718 match between cricketers of London and Kent and the involvement of the Punch Club Society, their drinking of punch and a lawsuit. The Peers that Lucas lists include the Duke of Dorset, Lord Winchelsea, Lord Talbot etc., George III presenting a cup for a match in 1770 on Richmond Green, and he selects the reference in 1804 to the Prince of Wales resuming his favourite amusement of cricket after a fifteen year interval, his companions including Count Beaujolais. In later times, Lucas praises the Hon. Ivo Bligh and Lords Hawke and Harris for their work in the modern game in their captaincy and administration of cricket. G/VG

Some loss to corners of mount on the right hand side, some rounding to other corners, slight soiling, wear, staining and age toning otherwise in good condition. A rarely seen early tour photograph £140/180
- W.W. Read's team were unbeaten on the tour of South Africa, winning fourteen matches including 'The Test Match' and drawing seven. They were far too strong, particularly in bowling, for the opposition it met, J.T. Hearne and Martin captured over 100 wickets each... It seems unrealistic that the only match played on equal terms is now described as a Test match. For one thing, two Australian Test cricketers, Ferris and Murdoch, as county players became members of the touring party, but went on to represent England. At the end of the tour the captain, Walter Read and manager, Edwin Ash were arrested until they provided security to cover a loan of £1000 which had been advanced by a Cape Colony businessman to cover expenses not met by the gates. There was just time for them to be ferried to the ship before it departed...*
- This 'Test match' game is more interesting for the following historical oddities,*
- William Murdoch and Ferris, who had both previously played for Australia, played for England due to residence, Frank Hearne, who played for South Africa in this game, had previously played for England. Finally, the game gives the second instance of three brothers playing in the same Test match, as Frank Hearne's brothers, Alec Hearne and George Hearne played for England, a cousin, John Thomas Hearne also played for the tourists and the tour was simultaneous to the English cricket team in Australia in 1891/92, both teams deemed to have "Test status".*

- Jardine himself had to face bodyline bowling in this Test match. The West Indian cricket team toured England in 1933, and, in the second Test at Old Trafford, Grant, their captain, decided to try bodyline. He had a couple of fast bowlers, Manny Martindale and Learie Constantine. Facing bodyline tactics for the first time, England first suffered, falling to 134 for 4, with Wally Hammond being hit on the chin, though he recovered to continue his innings. Then Jardine himself faced Martindale and Constantine. Jardine never flinched. He played right back to the bouncers, standing on tiptoe, and played them with a dead bat, sometimes playing the ball one handed for more control. Jardine made 127, his only Test century. In the West Indian second innings, Clark bowled bodyline back to the West Indians, taking 2 for 64. The match in the end was drawn but played a large part in turning English opinion against bodyline.*
